THE No. 17

MARYLAND GAZETTE

Containing the freshest Advices, Foreign and Domestic.

WEDNESDAY, August 3, 1748.

LISBON, April 9.

BY advices from Cadiz, the Fleet which was on its departure from thence for the Havanna and La Vera Cruz, failed with a fair wind on the 14th past, and it is since reported, that the Tartane which accompanied them as far as the Canaries are returned to Cadiz, with an account of their having passed those islands.

Hague, April 25. We have advice from Ruremond, that Lord Albemarle joined the allied army on the 21st with 9 battalions and 11 squadrons of English troops, and all the field artillery belonging to the British army.—The same day the army was reinforced with four more Imperial battalions from the side of Breda.

Brussels, April 28. The king having demanded a new subsidy of 1,600,000 florins from the states of this province, it has been proposed to lay a tax of four florins upon every chimney in the towns, and a twentieth penny for the country; but the elders of the trading companies have refused to consent to it.

Stockholm, April 16. The British minister, Mr. Guy Dickens, is preparing to set out some day this week on his return home. We also expect, in a short time, our minister from London; and it is said, that if his Britannick majesty appoints a minister to succeed Mr. Guy Dickens, our court will nominate another to reside at London, but not make the first advances towards a better understanding.

Vienna, April 16. O. S. Some advices have been lately received here from Constantinople, which occasion many speculations. There are not only great disturbances in the city, but in the divan also; so that it is thought they are on the point of a revolution, and this, notwithstanding some very bold steps that were taken by the Grand Signior and his ministers at the beginning of the revolt, by putting several persons of different ranks to death; which only served to inflame the great officers of the Janizaries, and increase the insolence of the populace.

Peterwaradin, April 21. It is believed the Russian auxiliaries will arrive at Cracow before the expiration of this month: Those who remain at Grodno, where Prince Repnin had established an hospital. Two foreigners, who shewed an inclination to excite the Russian soldiers to desert, having been discovered in a little Town upon the Road, have undergone the punishment of the Knout.

Sardinia, April 20. The French remain quiet for the present in our neighbourhood, and we are apt to think they have dropped the project of a new attempt upon this place; because they are filing off part of their troops towards the Bochetta.

A few days ago two English men of war burnt or sunk several Genoese barks that lay at anchor before Varragio and Antibes.

Paris, April 26. The two troops of Musquetaires set out this day for the Netherlands; part of the Life Guards are to follow them this evening, but lie upon the road to wait for the king, who, as we are assured, will set out the 7th of next Month for the army; by which day, at the farthest, Maestricht must surrender.

Germany, April 29. There has been lately a sharp skirmish between two detachments of Austrian and French hussars, to the Advantage of the former, who took 25 carriages laden with provisions.

Dresden, May 1. N. S. By an officer, who arrived last night from Warsaw, there is advice, that by this time the whole Russian army have passed the Vistula, one column at Polsary, the other at Gonva. Two of the Russian generals told the said officer, that the whole army was to be at Cracow before the 20th instant. From Cracow to Silitz in Silesia, there are but about four or five days march.

Hague, May 6. The Preliminary articles of peace are such, that people flatter themselves with the hopes of seeing the public tranquility established upon a solid basis. The branch of the contending powers has been managed in a manner the most conformable to that which the equilibrium of Europe requires. Cape Breton, of (LITTLE USE TO THE ENGLISH, BUT OF) great service to the French, is to be restored to that crown, who, in acknowledgement for that sacrifice, restores the Low Countries to the Empress Queen, the cession of Parmes to his Christian majesty excepted, in case England should insist on the demolition of Dunkirk, it being stipulated, that if things stand on their present footing, with respect to that port, Parmes shall continue annexed to the Dominions of the Austrian Netherlands. The Establishment for Don Philip is regulated, in a very natural Manner, by the Adjustments which assign to this Prince the Dutchies of Parma and Piacentia; by this Means he comes into the Patrimony of his Ancestors. This Regulation is indeed contrary to the Treaty of Worms: But as this Treaty concluded in the Heat of the War, hath appeared repugnant to a just and rational Peace, and incompatible to a sincere Reconcilation, it hath been thought requisite to substitute such Conditions as might be executed with less Difficulty, and of doing the same in relation to Final, by mitigating or changing the Disposition, as the Law of Convenience directed with respect to that Marquisate.

The other Regulations to be settled in Italy, are left to the Decision of the Empress Queen and the King of Sardinia. Savoy and the County of Nice are to be restituted to that Prince, as a Compensation for relinquishing his Claim to Final: And as the contracting Parties, not only in this Respect, but all others, have nothing so much in View as to make Equity and Justice the Basis of their Transactions, it has been agreed to [illegible] new Barrier for this Republick, by Means of which that might be replaced which it possessed before the war commenced. The Preliminaries for Peace will be laid before the States General in Form by the Stadtholder, as soon as he returns, who is expected every Moment.

Liege, May 10. N. S. This morning the garrison of Maestricht marched out with all the honours of war and the French took possession of the town; the Marshal de Lowendahl is appointed governor. Marshal de Saxe intends to be at Brussels on the 20th inst. The French army continues in great want of forage, the roads being almost impracticable for carriages. Their loss during the siege, extends 5600 Men, exclusive of the sick and Deserters.

Head quarters at Kayserswith, May 13. On the 10th inst. The cessation of arms was published to both armies; and was to take place the next day. Yesterday our army passed the Meuse, and encamped about half a league on the side of it. Tomorrow we shall march to Weert; and the third day we expect to reach the neighbourhood of Boisleduc.

Hague, May 14. The States General were informed last saturday, by an express from marshal de Nassau, that the armistice had been published by his orders the day before to the army under his command, in consequence of the advice he had received from his royal highness the duke of Cumberland, of the measures agreed upon between his Royal Highness and marshal Saxe for that purpose. The regiments of Leutrum and Imhoff, which have been raised this winter for the service of the States, are arrived within these few days on the frontiers of the republick.

Admiralty Office, April 27. On the 10th of last month, his majesty's ship the Advice, commanded by Capt. Haddock, sail'd from Plymouth on a cruize, and on the 28th she retook an English ship, named the Beulah, from Philadelphia, laden with sugar and some Indigo for London, which had been taken on the 19th, by the Junon privateer of Bayonne. The 3d inst. about 14. 39. W. Lon. from the Bary, Capt. Haddock bore down towards a sail seen to leeward, and at 9 in the morning came up with her, and after changing two or three broadsides with his upper deck guns (it blowing so fresh that his lower deck ports could not be opened) and several vollies of small arms, the Chase struck and proved to be the Neptune privateer privateer of Bayonne, of 20 guns 8 pounders, and 210 men. In the action the Advice had 3 men killed, and five wounded; and the privateer had eight killed and 15 wounded. On the 9th inst. Capt. Haddock took a French brigantine from St. Maloes, laden with salt for Newfoundland; and he has carried his prizes into Kinsale.

On the 23d inst. his majesty's ship the Hastings, commanded by Capt. Wellard, arrived in the Downs with a French privateer snow of Boulogne, called the duke de Rembouillet, of six carriage and ten swivel guns, and 66 men, which she took between Yarmouth and the broad Fourteens.

LONDON, April 30.

Extract of a letter from Dover, April 29.

"Capt Baker, in the cartel ship, is this moment arrived from Calais, which place he left this morning, and says, that every privateer in that place was ordered not to proceed to sea any more at present, there being a cessation of arms for six Months; that there were great rejoicings on the occasion, and scarce a house but what hung out Flags, &c."

On thursday night an order was issued from the admiralty for the Yatchs to be got ready with all expedition, to carry his majesty to Holland.

Some letters from the Hague by yesterday's mail intimate, that the article of the preliminaries which relates to a suspension of arms is intended by the French to stop the March of the Russians, with many strange and mysterious conjectures,— but, surely, the managers of our affairs will be so much on their guard, as to avoid becoming dupes to any dark or subtile machinations.

We are assured, that his grace the Duke of Newcastle goes abroad with his majesty as secretary of state.

Whitehall, May 3. Articles of capitulation were signed on the 7th inst. by marshal Saxe and general d'Aylva, governor of Maestricht, for the giving up the town on honourable conditions: In consequence of which, the garrison was to march out of the town on the 10th inst. with military honours. And the 11th inst. was the day named for the cessation of hostilities in the Low Countries.

May 3. So many privateers are now at sea from Guernsey and Jersey, that it is next to an impossibility for any French merchant ships to get in or out of their ports in the bay without convoy, which the French king has not in his power at present to afford them.

We hear, that as soon as a peace is concluded, the right honourable the earl of Chesterfield will go embassador to France, and make a magnificent Entry, as is usual after the making of a peace; as will also the embassadors of France and Spain do the same here.

Extract of a letter from Dusseldorp, May 7.

Lunæ, 2 Die Maii 1748.

An ingrossed bill for explaining, amending, and enforcing an act, made in the 18th year of the reign of his present majesty, intituled, an act for prohibiting the wearing and importation of cambricks and French lawns was read the third time. Resolved that the bill do pass.

BOSTON, July 11.

We hear that on the 14th past, about two o'Clock in the Morning, some Indians came to Capt. Woodside's Garrison in Brunswick, and set a Fence near it on Fire, but by the Vigilence of the Soldiers, no other Damage was done.

Last Thursday fourteen Men travelling from Col. Hinsdill's Fort to Fort Dummer, on the Western Frontier, a large Body of Indians, who lay in Ambush suddenly surpriz'd them, fir'd at them, kill'd three, and took seven Captive; the rest happily got into Col Hinsdill's Fort.

By Major Williams of Stockbridge, who came to Town last Tuesday, we are inform'd, That by an Express from Capt. Church at Kinderhook, (whose Company with Capt. Wolcott's, both from Connecticut, are stationed there) he had received Advice, That as Twenty Men of Capt. Wolcott's Company were marching from Vanalstine's to Houk's Fort, at Kinderhook, they were fired upon by a Party of French and Indians, above 60 in number, who had been laying in Ambush, and that five were kill'd upon the Spot, two were taken Prisoners, and the others escap'd.—That Capt. Church's Lieutenant, with Lieut. Houk and 15 Men, at that Time were going to a Pond in order to catch some Fish, but hearing the Discharge of the Guns, turn'd back to know the Occasion, and as they drew near found them to be from the Enemy, who had scalp'd the slain Men and with the two Prisoners were just marching off making a hideous Noise of Singing, Hallowing and Shouting, and in midst of this their Jollity they surpriz'd them by a Volley of Shot, whereby their Commander, who was a French Man, and two of the Indians were kill'd upon the spot, and several wounded, some 'tis suppos'd mortally; upon which the Enemy withdrew with the greatest Precipitation, carrying off their wounded Men with them, and leaving their two Prisoners and one of the Scalps, 20 Packs, as many Blankets, a Number of Guns, Powder, Ball, and sundry other Accoutrements, which our Soldiers took Possession of. They also found a Commission in the French Officer's Pocket, whereby it appeared that he had the second command of a Body of 200 Men design'd for the Frontiers of New-England, and of another smaller Party for the Frontiers of New-York.

'Tis suppos'd these Indians are the same that did the Mischief between Col. Hinsdell's Fort and Fort Dummer, which was done before an Express could get to Northampton, sent by Major Williams, with the above Advice.

We have Advice from the Westward, that on the 29th of last Month Capt. Hobbs, with a Scout of 40 Men, set out for the Great Falls, and on the 26th was discovered and attacked by a Body of upwards of an hundred Indians, who ran upon him with great Violence, hallowing and shouting; but this did not intimidate him or his Men, who stood their Ground, and fought manfully for 4 Hours, without loosing an Inch, when the Indians seeing their Captain shot down by Capt. Hobbs, ceased hallowing and firing, and marched off. Capt. Hobbs had three Men killed, viz. Samuel Gunn, Eben. Mitchell, and Ely Scott, and three dangerously wounded, whom Capt. Hobbs carried off without any Interruption from the Enemy, whose Loss is supposed to be very considerable.

Last Tuesday a Number of the Enemy, supposed to be about 30 or 40, came upon the garrisoned House of Mr. John Fitch at Lunenburgh, and killed two Soldiers that were posted there and burnt the House; Mr. Fitch, his Wife and five Children being missing, 'tis supposed they were taken and carried away Captive.
